SITUATION SUMMARY

Clearlake Oaks Motel Fire, Lake County (New/Final)

Per the Cal OES Coastal Region Duty Officer: The Lake Haven Motel in Clearlake Oaks (Lake County) had a fire on 01/04/15, in two of its units forcing an evacuation that displaced approximately 30 people who had been living at the motel on a long-term basis. One body was found at the scene but it is unknown at this time whether the death was a direct result of the fire. Red Cross responded to assist in setting up a shelter at Highlands Senior Center (3425 Bowers Road, Clearlake). Some residents were given a ride to the shelter site by the County. Some residents also had pets so the County Animal Control provided crates, food and other pet supplies to the shelter. There were only 11 people (5 families) at the shelter so it was closed and they were given hotel vouchers by the Red Cross. County Social Services will follow up with those that are displaced to determine what kind of assistance may be available.

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

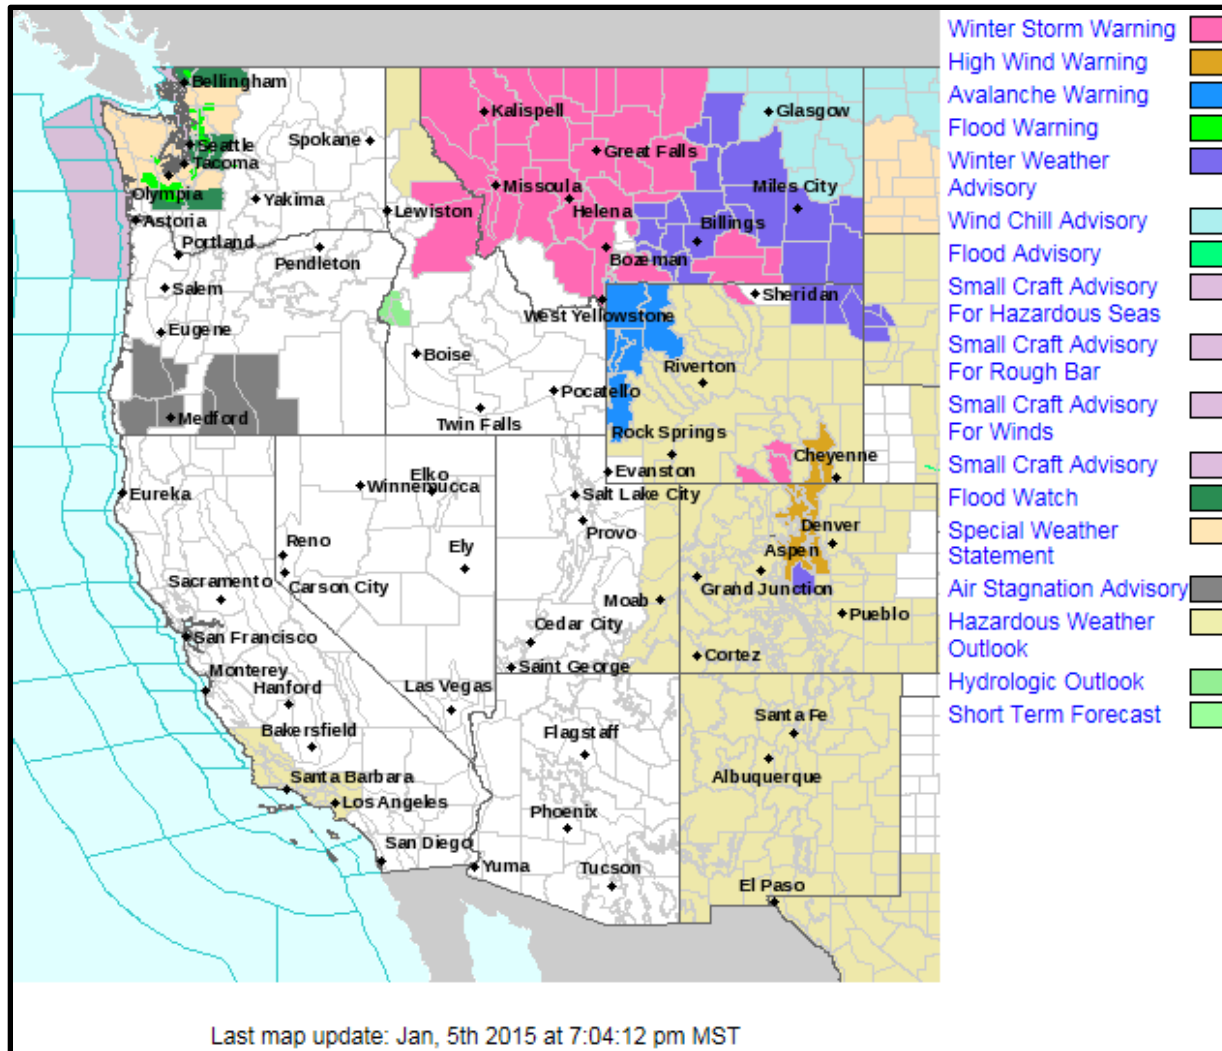

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

A high pressure ridge centered over the coast this morning will move inland tonight and become centered over the Great Basin for at least a few days. Thursday, a weakening weather system will approach the coast, but little to no precipitation is expected over Northern Operations from that system. Any that does fall would be most likely to occur near the coast. High pressure returns off shore over the weekend. Variable amounts of high cloudiness are expected throughout the 7 day period. Afternoon temperatures will be quite a bit above seasonal norms over the next 3 to 4 days with the warmest inland valley areas in the mid to upper 60s. That is as much as 15 degrees above normal there. Cooler, more seasonable conditions will return later this week and over the weekend. Valleys and drainage bottoms have been cooling off substantially overnight with relative humidity recovery there relatively high, whereas mid and upper slopes have been much warmer and drier. That pattern is likely to continue for much of the next 7 days. In general, winds over the next 7 days will be relatively light and no significant northeast to east/offshore winds are expected.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Surface high pressure over the Great Basin will bring northeast to east winds of 10 to 20 mph with gusts to 35 mph to the mountains and below the canyons and passes of Southern California through Wednesday morning. Strong high pressure aloft over California will cause temperatures to be 10 to 15 degrees above normal through Wednesday, with upper 50s and 60s in the mountains and 70s to low 80s in the valleys. Minimum humidity will be mainly in the teens away from the Central Valley through Wednesday. The ridge of high pressure will weaken bringing around 5 degrees of cooling and a 5% increase in humidity Thursday. A couple of weak Pacific troughs will bring near normal temperatures and high humidity to the region Friday through this weekend. At this time, no rainfall is anticipated with these troughs.
